PRE-VETERINARY PLANNING GUIDE (KU CORE)

Pre-Veterinary is a track designed to prepare students for admission into a veterinary medicine program. Students complete these courses alongside the bachelor's degree of choice. KU does not have a veterinary medicine program, but regional programs include Kansas State University and the University of Missouri. Students who complete the courses below will be eligible for both programs previously listed; students interested in other programs should meet with a Pre-Health Academic Advisor early to review other requirements.

More information can be found by visiting prehealth.ku.edu.

THINGS TO CONSIDER

- Requirements for admission to a veterinary program are paired with a bachelor's degree of choice from KU.
- If you plan to attend veterinary school directly after senior year, plan early!
  - The admission process typically includes an application through the Veterinary Medical College Application Services (VMCAS), a supplemental application, recommendation letters, and interviews. Make sure to give references a deadline and ample time to complete letters.
  - Observation/work in veterinary offices is required for most programs; volunteering/research are recommended.
